

LOW LIGHT TOLERANT HOUSEPLANTS

While most houseplants don't thrive in low light, there are a select few that do and some that will tolerate it.

- Lucky Bamboo
- Spider Plant
- Pothos
- Snake Plant (Sansevieria)
- Staghorn Fern
- English Ivy
- Cast Iron Plant
- Peace Lily
- Maidenhair Fern
- ZZ Plant
- Chinese Evergreen (Aglaonema)
- Peperomia Varieties
- Prayer Plant (Maranta)
- Scindapsus (Silver Satin Pothos)
- Dragon Tree (Dracaena Marginata)
- Calatheas
- Parlor Palm
- Ponytail Palm
- Dumb Cane (Dieffenbachia)
- Air Plants
- Syngonium (Arrowhead Plant)

Keep in mind that while these plants will tolerate low light, they might not thrive in it. If you notice your plant is getting leggy, or not growing for a long period of time, consider moving it to a spot with more light. And remember: Low light does not equal no light. Plants in lower light also don't need to be watered as often because they don't dry out as fast.
